

Royal College of Physicians of Edinburgh

---

EXAMINATION FOR MEMBERSHIP

JULY 1925

---

PSYCHIATRY

1. Describe the method of treating general paralysis by malarial inoculation. Discuss its results from the clinical and serological standpoints.

2. On what points would you lay stress in differentiating between simple mania and the katatonic excitement of dementia praecox in a young person?

3. Describe the typical symptoms, physical and mental, of toxic confusional insanity (e.g. puerperal insanity).

4. What steps would you take to determine the testamentary capacity of an insane person? Explain the circumstances in which the presence of delusions may invalidate a will.